

forced the cattlemen to make improvements in their herds. He was a very strong domineer, began to respect her and the editors he hired. She was invited to write an editorial now and then. Her husband was a member of the staff of papers for which she reported the market by adding the Bridgeport Forum, the Bureau of the West, the Chicago Tribune, the Albany Times, the Boraman, Breckers Gazette, and other papers. Her husband's opinion was valued. In the first few years of her newspaper life she was a very busy woman. She was the only woman who made an address before the Legislature in Albany. She went to Washington by invitation to attend the National Conference on the Transportation. She went to Chicago and examined reports on the condition of the country. She went to Texas, and in fact she travelled all over the country and was very popular with the cattlemen. She indulged her passion for horses on all occasions and never permitted herself to think that she was a woman of the land. She became acquainted with such men as Holter Bonner and Cornelius Hays, and was very popular with the men of the class. Jackey Clark.

part of September or he will go to Paris and make investigations of the position of the war. He will go to London and will still further to his knowledge of the war from personal observation.

Grant Memorial Souvenir Certificates.

The distribution of the souvenir certificates, which the Grant Monument Association proposed to issue to the donors of the fund, has not yet begun. The sum not less than fifty cents, upon the request of such contributors, has been suspended for a short time because the head of Gen. Grant, engraved thereon, was not a satisfactory portrait. The committee have been in conference with the Secretary of the Treasury for a reproduction of the best portrait of the general. Gen. Grant that the Bureau of Printing and Engraving at Washington can furnish, and that the committee will treat war on the souvenir certificates, which will therefore not be ready before June 10.

Despatch by Striking Cable.

DULUTH, June 1.—Train No. 18 on the St. Paul and Duluth road last night was delayed fifty miles south of here by striking two oxen. Fireman David Burroughs was killed. Engineer John J. O'Connell sustained a broken leg and a broken arm. The train was badly wrecked and the engine, named "The Great War," was damaged.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 1.—Bishop Patrick Thomas O'Reilly was buried in the Cathedral today. The body of the dead Bishop opened up another catalogue before the chancel rail. In the procession which followed the funeral service, the Mayor and City Government were present. The procession started at 10 o'clock and proceeded through the city streets. The officiating priest was Archbishop Curran of Albany. The Rev. Dr. John J. Keane of Washington, the Rev. Dr. A. Ludden of Syracuse, and the Rev. Dr. J. M. Sullivan of Portland, Me., delivered addresses. At the burial place, the priests sang the de profundis.

Hearings In Pardon Cases Postponed.

ALBANY, June 1.—Gov. Flower has sent word that he will not return to Albany until Friday. The hearing before him on several pardon cases therefore has been postponed until June 7. As yet there is no formal application for the pardon of Harbord before the governor, but John H. McLaughlin, secretary of the board, has notified him that applications will be presented during the week ending next Monday. Signatories to the petition have been secured.

claimed, attracted so much attention about a week ago, are reconciled. Hayes, whose parents live in Sloughborough, was married several years ago to a Miss Julia Turner of Ellipton. She has a number of children. Hayes left his wife and child and came to live with his parents in Sloughborough. On May 1, he was married to a Miss Mary Ann Turner, bringing him to Sloughborough. Mrs. Hayes followed him to her son, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, who were found to-day at the house of Hayes's father, at Sloughborough. The marriage was solemnly settled between them, and they seemed to be very happy. Mr. Hayes's mother brought with her the reconciliation of the two families.
